

CRCA WELLNESS AWARD – 2023

We now live in a world where employee physical safety is no longer the only gauge of health a company needs to be concerned with. Mental and emotional health are a growing challenge to the overall wellbeing of CRCA member companies.

With a mission of promoting safety to all facets of the roofing and waterproofing industry, the CRCA Health & Safety Committee is launching a new award in 2023 to recognize CRCA Associate and Contractor Members' efforts to create and promote a culture of wellness within. CRCA encourages your firm to submit the following information to help learn about your success in creating a safety culture where mental, emotional and physical health are nurtured and developed.

Please submit the following information to help the CRCA Health & Safety Committee determine the 2023 CRCA Wellness Award recipient. Please feel free to provide examples of the programs listed below. Information can be sent in a single PDF format to info@crca.org:

1. What safety protocols does your company have in place to maintain safety when at work?
2. What program(s) do you have to improve mental health at work? How do you monitor the program(s)?
3. Do you have any facilities or programs to help improve and maintain physical health?
4. What do you do to ensure that emotional needs are addressed?
5. Do you have any programs to help promote and improve the workplace/work environment?
6. Provide a brief description of why you think your company deserves this award.

The information provided by those who apply for this award will demonstrate to the committee how the applicant's company creates a safer place to work by addressing physical, mental, and emotional health within their organization.

The deadline for submission is Monday, October 2nd. Thank you in advance for applying. Please contact info@crca.org for more information.

Participants will be recognized at the 2023 CRCA Awards Dinner on Saturday, December 2.
